Item 7.01 Regulation FD Disclosure

On March 31, 2009, Corporate Office Properties Trust (the "Company") announced that it is commencing an underwritten public offering of 2,100,000 common shares of beneficial interest. The offering price and other terms are to be determined by negotiations between the Company and the underwriters. The Company expects to grant the underwriters a thirty-day option to purchase up to 315,000 additional common shares.

Following the pricing, and solely as a result of the offering, the Company expects to update its guidance for diluted earnings per share and diluted funds from operations ("FFO") per share. Such guidance will depend upon the final terms of the offering of common shares and the final size of the offering, among other factors.

Based on the expected terms and size of the offering, and certain current assumptions and estimates of the Company relating to the offering, the Company expects that its updated guidance for diluted earnings per share will be $0.02 to $0.03 lower and diluted FFO per share will be $0.05 to $0.06 lower than guidance previously issued in its press release, dated February 11, 2009, filed as Exhibit 99.1 to the Company's Current Report on Form 8-K as furnished to the Securities and Exchange Commission on February 12, 2009.

FFO is defined as net income computed using generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP"), excluding gains (or losses) from sales of real estate, plus real estate-related depreciation and amortization, and after adjustments for unconsolidated partnerships and joint ventures. Gains from sales of newly-developed properties less accumulated depreciation, if any, required under GAAP are included in FFO on the basis that development services are the primary revenue generating activity; the Company believes that inclusion of these development gains is in accordance with the National Association of Real Estate Investment Trusts ("NAREIT") definition of FFO, although others may interpret the definition differently.

Accounting for real estate assets using historical cost accounting under GAAP assumes that the value of real estate assets diminishes predictably over time. NAREIT stated in its April 2002 White Paper on Funds from Operations that "since real estate asset values have historically risen or fallen with market conditions, many industry investors have considered presentations of operating results for real estate companies that use historical cost accounting to be insufficient by themselves." As a result, the concept of FFO was created by NAREIT for the real estate investment trust ("REIT") industry to "address this problem." The Company agrees with the concept of FFO and believes that FFO is useful to management and investors as a supplemental measure of operating performance because, by excluding gains and losses related to sales of previously depreciated operating real estate properties and excluding real estate-related depreciation and amortization, FFO can help one compare the Company's operating performance between periods.

Basic funds from operations ("Basic FFO") is FFO adjusted to (1) subtract (a) preferred share dividends and (b) issuance costs associated with redeemed preferred shares and (2) add back GAAP net income allocated to common units in the Operating Partnership not owned by the Company. With these adjustments, Basic FFO represents FFO available to common shareholders and common unitholders. Common units in the Operating Partnership are substantially similar to the Company's common shares and are exchangeable into common shares, subject to certain conditions.

Diluted funds from operations ("Diluted FFO") is Basic FFO adjusted to add back any changes in Basic FFO that would result from the assumed conversion of securities that are convertible or exchangeable into common shares. However, the computation of Diluted FFO does not assume conversion of securities other than common units in the Operating Partnership that are convertible into common shares if the conversion of those securities would increase Diluted FFO per share in a given period.

Diluted funds from operations per share ("Diluted FFO per share") is (1) Diluted FFO divided by (2) the sum of the (a) weighted average common shares outstanding during a period, (b) weighted average common units outstanding during a period and (c) weighted average number of potential additional common shares that would have been outstanding during a period if other securities that are convertible or exchangeable into common shares were converted or exchanged. However, the computation of Diluted FFO per share does not assume conversion of securities other than common units in the Operating Partnership that are convertible into common shares if the conversion of those securities would increase Diluted FFO per share in a given period. The Company believes that Diluted FFO per share is useful to investors because it provides investors with a further context for evaluating the Company's FFO results in the same manner that investors use earnings per share ("EPS") in evaluating net income available to common shareholders. In addition, since most equity REITs provide Diluted FFO per share information to the investment community, the Company believes Diluted FFO per share is a useful supplemental measure for comparing the Company to other equity REITs. The Company believes that diluted EPS is the most directly comparable GAAP measure to Diluted FFO per share. Since Diluted FFO per share excludes the effect of certain items includable in diluted EPS, reliance on the measure has limitations; management compensates for these limitations by using the measure simply as a supplemental measure that is weighed in the balance with other GAAP and non-GAAP measures. Diluted FFO per share is not necessarily an indication of the Company's cash flow available to fund cash needs. Additionally, it should not be used as an alternative to diluted EPS when evaluating the Company's financial performance or to cash flow from operating, investing and financing activities when evaluating the Company's liquidity or ability to make cash distributions or pay debt service. The Diluted FFO per share that the Company presents may not be comparable to the Diluted FFO per share presented by other REITs.
